

GRAPHIC ORGANIZERS FOR ALL USES

By Nadine Weltman Laham, Pioneer Middle School and Lauren Brown, Crystal Lake Middle School

Reading Coaches and CRISS<sup>SM</sup> District Trainers
Broward County School District, Florida

New adaptations of graphic organizers have improved our teaching as Reading Coaches, the quality of our students' learning, and our assessment of the students. We recommend these graphic organizers, as with all organizational strategies, be used consistently across content areas within a school, so students learn multiple applications.

EXIT SLIP

*Developed by Nadine Laham, Lauren Brown, and
Patricia Begley, Math Teacher,
Crystal Lake Middle School,
Broward County School District,
Florida*

The Exit Slip graphic organizer can be used at the end of a unit, or even daily, to help students

EXIT SLIP		TOPIC
DATE		CHAPTER
NAME		PAGES
MY ACTIONS		HOW?
Did I access my background knowledge?
Was I actively involved?
Did I engage in discussion?
Did I process my learning through writing?
Did I self-monitor my learning?
Did I organize my information?
A positive today was:		A negative today was:

evaluate the CRISS<sup>SM</sup> principles used while learning and to reinforce their accountability, responsibility, and metacognition.

We recommend the Exit Slip not be used too often, so it remains a fresh classroom tool.

Exit Slip results include students learning their own strengths and weaknesses, teachers learning which students are having difficulties, and teachers assessing student effort.

NOTE: This article first appeared in the Fall 2003 Comments from CRISS® newsletter. All material is copyrighted. Permission is granted to photocopy or print this article in its entirety, as long as all credits remain intact with the article and the Project CRISS copyright appears on the materials. This article may not be used in any other publication in any medium, without the express, written permission of Project CRISS.

©Project CRISS